The study is sponsored by funding from the French Government, through the Institut National de la Santé et de la Recherche Médicale (INSERM), and the French League Against Rheumatism (Ligue Française contre les Maladies Autoimmunes).

These findings suggest that an increase in the price of cigarettes will have a significant impact on the health of the population. The authors conclude that a 10% increase in the price of cigarettes will result in a 10% reduction in the number of cigarettes smoked per person per year. This reduction in smoking will lead to a significant reduction in the number of deaths and disabilities caused by smoking. The authors also note that the impact of a price increase on the health of the population will be greater if the increase is sustained over a long period of time.

Sharon postpones vote on Gaza pullout

SHARON VETOES PULL-OUT
 A vote to pull out Israeli troops from Gaza was postponed by Prime Minister Sharon. The vote was held in the Knesset, the Israeli parliament, but Sharon vetoed it. He said that the pull-out was premature and that the Israeli government needed more time to prepare for the possibility of a terrorist attack.

Islamic militants kill 5 foreigners in Saudi attack

At least 10 people were killed in an attack on a Saudi Arabian military base, with five foreigners among the dead, according to a report from the Saudi Press Syndicate. The attack occurred in the town of al-Qatif, about 100 miles from Riyadh. The militants, who were armed with rifles and handguns, entered the base and opened fire on the soldiers. The Saudi military responded by firing back, but the militants managed to escape. The Saudi government has vowed to bring the perpetrators to justice.

PARRICIDE CASE VS ECLEO

Lawyers seek probe of plot to clear cult leader

San Jose, Calif. (UPI) — A San Jose attorney has filed a lawsuit against the United Church of Christ (UCC) and its local congregation, the First Unitarian Universalist Church of San Jose, seeking a court order to force the church to provide records of its internal communications and financial records.

The lawsuit, filed in Santa Clara County Superior Court, was brought by the attorney for the family of a man who was killed by a member of the church. The family alleges that the church's internal communications and financial records contain information that would be helpful in the prosecution of the man's murder.

The church's attorney, who has not been named, has filed a motion to dismiss the lawsuit, arguing that the church is a religious organization and is not subject to the same rules as secular organizations.

The case is expected to be heard in court in the near future.

'Canvass rules favor GMA'

By [Name] | [Date]

MANILA, Philippines — The Commission on Elections (COMELEC) has ruled that the canvassing rules favor the GMA network, a decision that has sparked controversy and criticism from opposition groups and media outlets.

The ruling, which was issued last week, states that the GMA network has a significant advantage in the canvassing process, particularly in the distribution of ballots and the collection of votes. This has led to concerns that the GMA network may be able to manipulate the results of the upcoming elections.

Opposition groups, including the Philippine Nationalist Party (PNP) and the Liberal Party (LP), have expressed their dissatisfaction with the ruling. They argue that the rules are biased in favor of the GMA network and that this could lead to an unfair election.

The COMELEC, however, maintains that the ruling is based on the existing laws and regulations governing the canvassing process. It claims that the GMA network's extensive reach and resources give it a natural advantage in the canvassing process.

The ruling has also drawn the attention of the international community, with some observers expressing concern that it may undermine the integrity of the Philippine electoral process. The COMELEC has responded to these concerns by stating that it will continue to monitor the canvassing process closely and will take any necessary steps to ensure a fair and transparent election.

Something stupid, silly and old spice up debates

By [Name] | [Date]

MANILA, Philippines — The recent debate between the candidates for the upcoming elections has been a mix of serious discussion and lighthearted banter. While some topics have been serious and important, others have been more trivial and entertaining.

One of the more serious topics discussed was the issue of corruption in the government. Several candidates have promised to take action to reduce corruption and improve the efficiency of the public sector. This has been a major concern for voters, and it is a topic that deserves serious attention.

On the other hand, there have been several instances of lighthearted banter and humor. Some candidates have made jokes about their opponents, and others have engaged in friendly competition. While this may be entertaining, it is also important to remember that the election is a serious matter and that the candidates should focus on the issues that matter most to the voters.

Overall, the debate has been a mix of the serious and the silly. While there have been some important discussions, there have also been some trivial and entertaining moments. It is up to the voters to decide which candidates they believe are best qualified to lead the country.
